

BANDOS CHESTPLATE

Ah, where can I begin the legendary Bandos Chestplate? Let me start off by saying that it is among the two exceptionally good-looking, highly-envied, much-loved platebodies in RuneScape (can you guess the other one :-D)? Although it relinquishes the best Melee defence crown to the 3 Barrows platebodies, the superior +4 Strength bonus of the Bandos Chestplate makes it arguable the best non-degradeable Melee platebody ever. This sturdy chestplate's main rivalry comes from the Fighter Torso, an untradable piece of armor that offers the same +4 Strength bonus, but with far less defensive stats. Because of its monstrous price tag, the Bandos Chestplate is pretty much never used for PK'ing (other than Dragon Claws rushing), but is favored as an excellent Meleeing platebody. Another interesting aspect of this chest armor is that since it isn't made of metal, it doesn't interfere with Ava's Accumulator. The Bandos Chestplate's with its very high Ranged and Crush defence makes it an expensive yet ideal choice for both boss hunters using Melee. As for popularity, since the Bandos Chestplate is obtainable only from the mighty God Wars Dungeon, ever since its release it has remained exclusively for the rich, high level player class.

SEEN ON

- Melee trainers \(Level 120-138\)
- Melee PK'ers \(120-138\)

REQUIREMENTS

- Level 65 Defence

OBTAINABLE FROM

- Monster Drops